To Fulbright and McClellan Men

In a capricious editorial this morning the Little Rock Gazette said either Ted Boswell or David Pryor was preferable to U.S. Senator John L. McClellan in the preferential primary election next Tuesday, May 30.

The Gazette made much of the fact that McClellan is 76 while Boswell is only 39 and Pryor 37.

If the Gazette's editorial logic is correct then the newspaper ought to suspend publication—for J. N. Heiskell, its owner, is over 100.

The Gazette has been jabbing at McClellan throughout this campaign. Now it indicates it will support either Boswell or Pryor against McClellan if there is a runoff.

This is a memorandum to the Southwest Arkansas supporters of both U.S. Senator McClellan and U.S. Senator J. William Fulbright—

I would advise you to make sure McClellan goes in on the first primary on Tuesday so there will be no runoff because—

If McClellan with 30 years' seniority and a vast array of all-important committee posts goes down in 1972 then you can be sure it is handwriting on the wall for Bill Fulbright in 1974.

Without McClellan in the Senate this newspaper won't support Fulbright two years from now.

I am justified in this ultimatum by the best of all possible reasons:

The newspaper and I personally supported McClellan when he was first elected Senator in 1942.

The newspaper and I personally supported Bill Fulbright when he was first elected Senator in 1944.

A Hope man took issue with me in 1944, saying: "I don't see how you can support McClellan and a guy like Fulbright in consecutive elections"—inferring correctly that McClellan's policies in the Senate suit this newspaper while Fulbright's views frequently do not.

I told him we don't support men for public office expecting them to see eye to eye with a newspaper editor all the time. We try for some kind of balance that makes common sense. With McClellan, a conservative, and Fulbright, a liberal, in the Senate you get all the facts and a sound government.

Knocking out one of them will call for a completely new deal.

I was chairman of the Hempstead county committee that supported McClellan in 1942, and the same committee, with the late A. A. Albright as chairman, worked for Fulbright in 1944. In 1942 McClellan took Hempstead and Nevada counties by four to one; and in 1944 Fulbright captured the same counties by three to one.

Arkansas has two world-famous Senators. They have earned their home people's support until retirement or death.

Consider this next Tuesday—and return John L. McClellan to the Senate with a vote that will guarantee there won't be a runoff.

Mississippi Arms Factory Blast Kills 5

By BILL CRIDER

KILN, Miss. (AP) — Five women have been killed in a series of explosions at an ammunition manufacturing plant which one survivor described as a "nightmare Fourth of July."

Company officials said they did not know what touched off the first blast Wednesday at the Ingram Industries facility in sparse piney woods near this southwestern Mississippi village.

The plant employs 145 persons, mostly women. Star shell flares and tracer bullets produced by the company were set off and sailed through the sky in a spectacularly dangerous display.

They set fires in the grassy pine trees on the 20-acre plant site, touching off more explosions as slowly spreading flames reached sheds and bunkers where explosives were stored.

Even firemen were ordered out of the area when flames reached a 60-pound drum of lead styphnate, described by company officials as more dangerous than nitroglycerin.

Firemen, civil defense officials, highway patrolmen, sheriff's deputies and city police from Gulfport and Biloxi waited all afternoon and into the night for the big blast of the threatened drum.

But the only sound was the crackle of bullets in the distance, popping off in the heat, and the occasional "whoomp" of an exploding phosphorus flare.

John Hogue of New Orleans, Ingram's plant safety supervisor, said the first explosion occurred in a small building where five women were mixing chemicals to go into star flares.

He said all five were killed. Mildred Carroll, 43, of Kiln said she was in a nearby building at the time.

"First I heard the explosion and it blew all the flares in the air," she said. "Some were blown into other areas, where black powder and phosphorus are stored. Then I saw a big ball of black smoke, then a big mushroom shaped cloud of white smoke went up then all the star flares went up."

Hogue said the plant had "an elaborate safety system we had to live by. There were federal inspectors around frequently."

Hurst Accuses Bumpers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers was accused Wednesday by state Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of "completely disregarding" a personnel classification plan adopted in 1969.

Hurst, a Democratic candidate for governor, said numerous state employees hired by Bumpers' administration "were being paid for jobs they were not performing and, in a number of cases, were not qualified to perform."

Astronomers Spot Exploding Star

By BILL STOCKTON
AP Science Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Astronomers have discovered the brightest exploding star observed in 35 years and alerted observatories around the world to watch its fiery convulsions of death.

They hope the unique observations will unravel puzzles about the still poorly understood process through which a star burns up its nuclear fuel, collapses, explodes and then becomes one of the strange pulsars that emit regular bursts of radio energy.

"This may turn out in the next two years to be one of the most studied objects in astronomy," Charles Kowal, a member of the staff at the Hale Observatories of the California Institute of Technology, said Wednesday.

Kowal first observed the exploding star, called a supernova, May 13 in a photographic plate of a galaxy in the constellation Centaurus 60 billion miles from earth. It was so bright on the plate he thought an asteroid just a few million miles from earth might have been passing across the field of view of the Hale telescope atop Mt. Palomar.

"Whatever it was, it sure leaped out at me," he said in an interview.

Two nights later, the astronomers trained a larger Palomar telescope on the galaxy and confirmed that they were seeing an exploding star.

Exploding stars are observed several times a year. But until

Gibbs Out Of Money

LITTLE ROCK (AP) Lester Gibbs of North Little Rock said Wednesday all he had left was $2.76 and that because of lack of funds he would not be able to continue his Democratic gubernatorial campaign.

"I don't have the funds to buy gas to get to the grocery if I had money to buy groceries," Gibbs said he was not dropping out of the race, only that he would cease campaigning.

"It will hurt me certainly, but there is no point in trying to go on when I can't," he said.

HUD Grant Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $400,000 grant has been approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development for an urban renewal program for the College View area of Pine Bluff.

Wallace Vows Party Loyalty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stricken Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace has reassured Democrats that his delegates to the national convention will support the party's presidential nominee.

"Wallace has publicly committed his delegates to comply totally with the call of our convention," said Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien.

"That commitment included the provision that no delegate can take part and later support a candidate other than the Democratic nominee."

But he added that Wallace has not promised his own support for the Democratic nominee.

O'Brien's statement Wednesday came one day after he visited Wallace at Holy Cross Hospital, in Silver Spring, Md., where the governor is recuperating from gunshot wounds following an attempted assassination last week during a campaign rally in Laurel, Md.

Wallace's condition is showing marked improvement and speculation mounted that he would be transferred today to Montgomery, Ala.

O'Brien, speaking with reporters following a speech at the National Press Club, said only "good faith" would prevent Wallace from defecting and launching a third-party presidential movement if his bid for the Democratic nomination fails.

Wallace is expected to attend the Democratic National Convention at Miami Beach in July even though he probably will be bedridden for three to five more weeks.

"I feel pretty good for a man who got shot four or five times," he told reporters in his hospital room Wednesday. "It will take time to get over."

Wallace, who looked weak and somewhat pale, added, "They say I'm doing real good."

Pryor Signs Are Also Damaged

Editor The Star: I noticed in Tuesday's paper you mentioned on the front page that someone had been vandalizing McClellan's campaign signs. That may be so, and it certainly should not be excusable.

However, I feel I should have a right to register a complaint also. I have put up numerous signs for David Pryor, most of them in people's yards, only to have the people call me the next day to report that someone had torn the sign down during the night. I have a full-time job besides my political work, and a family also. I worked very hard going door-to-door putting these signs up, and since Boswell has no noticeable sign in Hope I naturally come to the conclusion that McClellan's backers are the vandals. I do not condone the practice of anyone taking McClellan's signs down, but by the same token I feel you should make the same statement concerning Pryor's signs. Hope that you meant the statement saying the reward went for anyone vandalizing any campaign posters, because I have some idea who is taking down my Pryor signs. I have not reported this to the police, at this time. Sincerely,

5th Accord Is Signed by U.S., USSR

MOSCOW (AP) — President Nixon and Russian leaders, pushing toward the heralded arms curb climax of their Moscow summit talks, gave formal approval today to the fifth American-Soviet accord signed in three days.

The latest agreement is designed to insure against dangerous confrontations between American and Soviet warships that frequently shadow each other on the high seas.

Signing the document were John Warner, U.S. secretary of the Navy and Adm. Sergei Gorshkov, commander in chief of the Russian navy and deputy defense minister.

Nixon and top Soviet leaders had wrapped up another round of summit talks about an hour before the 5 p.m. signing. They have been conferring quietly about long-range European and Asian issues dividing their countries, as well as about such topics as limitations on strategic arms.

Known as the Washington-Moscow Naval Agreement on Prevention of Incidents On and Over the High Seas, the accord does not affect merchant ships or fishing vessels but only ships and aircraft of the two countries' armed forces.

Under its provisions, military commanders must make increased use of signals, refrain from making simulated attacks and use greater caution and prudence in approaching military units of the other country.

The fact that agreements carefully prepared for "finalization" during the President's visit were but a fraction of the summit picture was underlined by Nixon's surprise journey Wednesday evening to a country dacha for dinner and conversation with Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev and others. The session began about 7 p.m. and continued for five hours.

Nixon spent the morning conferring with his staff at his suite in the Kremlin, spokesman Ronald L. Ziegler reported. A meeting with the Soviet leaders previously announced for 11 a.m. was put off until afternoon, Ziegler said.

The press secretary said Nixon's Wednesday night discussions centered on international matters, among them Vietnam. He reported that the President and the top Soviet chiefs talked first while cruising on a lake near the dacha and did not sit down to dinner until about 11 p.m.

In keeping with the timetable for what Nixon has termed the most carefully planned summit ever held, the fifth in a series of U.S.-Soviet accords was ready for announcement today.

This deals with rules to prevent accidental confrontations between American and Soviet warships on the high seas.

Educators Attend Dinner

Eight Hope educators were among the more than 400 who attended an appreciation dinner for Governor Dale Bumpers at Little Rock Tuesday night. The dinner was under the sponsorship of the newly organized PACE (Political Action Committee for Education) composed of fifteen representatives including Earl D. Downs, Hope High School guidance counselor.

After interviews with the gubernatorial candidates, the group chose to back Governor Bumpers for re-election. That night he pledged his support "for quality education available to every student" and asked for assistance in some of his future plans which include career education.

Others attending from Hope were Miss Mary Roy Moses, Mrs. Marion Robertson, Mrs. Mary Nell Turner, Will V. Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. Harrel Dickerson, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Downs.

North Vietnamese Assault Wiped Out

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP)—North Vietnamese gunners slammed hundreds of rockets and artillery shells into Kontum today in the most intense attack on that city of their two-month offensive, following the infiltration of sappers into the town.

U.S. sources said the heavy shelling appeared to indicate that the North Vietnamese were about to launch a drive to seize their second provincial capital.

Similar heavy shelling attacks forced the South Vietnamese to abandon northernmost Quang Tri Province May 1. The provincial capital of An Loc on the southern front 60 miles north of Saigon, has been under siege for 49 days but has managed to hold, though it is virtually destroyed.

Six hundred to 800 rockets and shells from captured U.S. made 105mm howitzers hit Kontum between dawn and dusk.

Early in the day, North Vietnamese sappers backed by tanks attacked the city from the south. South Vietnamese military spokesmen said that by dusk all of them had been killed, driven out or had withdrawn. But U.S. sources said that as night covered the city, some of the sappers were occupying former South Vietnamese bunkers near the airstrip.

Two assaults against South Vietnam's northernmost defense line at My Chanh, 20 to 25 miles north of Hue, were reported repulsed. South Vietnamese spokesmen at Hue said 166 North Vietnamese troops were killed by government troops and artillery in what one U.S. adviser described as a "turkey shoot." South Vietnamese losses were reported as 15 troops killed and 43 wounded.

The spokesmen also reported that two Soviet-built BTR50 amphibious personnel carriers were destroyed, marking the introduction of another new weapon to the Indochina war. The BTR50 is a 1½-ton carrier with a crew of two. It carries 12 infantrymen.

At An Loc, on the southern front 60 miles north of Saigon, field reports said up to 4,000 civilian refugees were able to get out of the besieged city. The refugees, mostly old women and children, walked south to Tau O, a village nine miles below An Loc. They said about 50 had been killed by North Vietnamese shelling during their escape.

American planes, retaliating for the enemy offensive now beginning its ninth week, smashed the two biggest power plants and a major bridge in the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial complex for the first time since the 1965-68 bombing campaign.

U.S. sources said 150 to 300 North Vietnamese sappers from the 2nd Division penetrated Kontum and occupied portions of the air field, some civilian houses, a school, a Catholic seminary and the home of the French bishop of Kontum, Msgr. Paul Seitz.

Shultz O.K'd by Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee approved without opposition today President Nixon's nomination of George P. Shultz to succeed John B. Connally as secretary of the Treasury.

The vote came after Shultz told the panel strong efforts must be made to control federal spending before any higher taxes are considered. "I don't see any evidence that people think we in government are doing such a great job so that taxes should be raised to provide us with more revenues," he told the committee at a hearing to consider his nomination.

"Before we have anything to say about the possibility of higher taxes, we must do everything we can to bring outlays under control."

Shultz, now Nixon's top budget officer and former secretary of Labor, emphasized repeatedly that the upturn in the nation's economy brought with it a need to start curtailing federal spending.

Supports Ruling

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., has hailed the U. S. Supreme Court's decision last Monday upholding the immunity provisions of the Organized Crime Control Act of 1970, which he sponsored.

The decision authorizes the government to compel testimony from unwilling witnesses who invoke the 5th Amendment privilege against self-incrimination by conferring immunity for that testimony to the extent necessary to protect the witness from use of his testimony against him, McClellan said.

He called the case "a significant breakthrough in the continuing fight against the forces of crime."

Bomb Threat at Wallace Hospital

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — Officials at Holy Cross Hospital said today they have received many bomb threats since Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace has been hospitalized there.

Tom Burke, Holy Cross public relations representative, said, however, that there has been no evidence shown through searches that any bombs have been planted.

"Almost simultaneously with the arrival of Gov. Wallace in our emergency room, the first of a great many threatening and crank calls was received by telephone," said Burke. He said such calls have been received daily since Wallace was taken to the hospital for treatment of gunshot wounds he received May 15 at a political rally in Laurel, Md.

A bomb squad has been stationed at the hospital.

Persons going into the hospital must be thoroughly checked out at the door. Their baggage is searched in most cases.

Burke said only the immediate families of patients are allowed to visit them.

There are 340 in-patients at Holy Cross now.

One of Wallace's security guards has commented: "If anybody wants to make a crank call, they'll have to stand in line at the switchboard."

All Around Town

Last Thursday Jean's Beauty Shop, located in the Snyder Hotel was the honoree, or victim, of a most unusual client.

A young male called for a beauty appointment which he kept at 12:30. After the beautician had shampooed and set his hair, he remembered that he had left something on a burner in his house and he had to hurry out to take care of it. With the rollers amassed atop his head, he left the beauty shop and got into his yellow, compact car and drove away.

He hasn't yet returned to the beauty shop to either pay for his shampoo and set or to return the rollers.

The only particulars known are that he gave his name as Bill Scott. Whether real or alias, we know not. He said he had moved here only four days before and that his wife's folks lived here. Also, he said he was on his way to Centenary College in Shreveport. In all, he seemed to be a nice enough sort of fellow.

Beauticians, beware of male who got a peek at the office and several other rooms in the President's seven-room suite found them functional but not especially cozy.

Along with the desk and table, the office has a sofa and modernistic chairs with nubby green upholstery, paneled walls and one glass-front bookcase.

There is a dictating machine which Nixon uses, a television set and a console radio.

A plain black telephone links the President to the impressive array of communications gear brought from Washington. By picking up the telephone he can be in instant contact with the White House via satellite.

The office is to the right of a sitting room with a three-seat sofa, four upholstered chairs and a fireplace.

To the left of the sitting room is a dining room in which the Nixons dined together Tuesday night on food prepared by White House cooks in the kitchen of the Grand Kremlin Palace.

The table seats 12 on straight-back chairs upholstered in green. As elsewhere in the suite, the rugs look Oriental but have square patterns in green and brown. On the white walls are pastoral scenes.

Just outside the presidential suite is a reception room used for meetings of presidential aides. Up a short flight of stairs are rooms where such White House staff members as Henry Kissinger and H. R. Haldeman are staying.

The newsmen were not allowed in those rooms, nor were they shown the bedrooms of the President and Mrs. Nixon.

Education Bill Faces Rough Going

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A $21.5-billion education bill containing a strong antibusing provision has sailed through the Senate but faces tougher going in the House.

The bill cleared the Senate 63 to 15 Wednesday with most of the opposition coming from Northern liberals who objected to the antibusing rider.

In the House, such opponents will be joined by antibusing members who object because the rider doesn't go as far as a previously passed House version.

Oershadowed by the busing controversy are the sweeping provisions in the bill. The measure would continue a dozen higher-education programs for three more years; launch several new ones, including direct aid to colleges; authorize funds to help schools desegregate, and establish a national institute of education for research.

House supporters of the bill are hoping the many benefits it contains for students, their families and educational institutions will be enough to outweigh members' objections to the busing provision.

Recognizing the difficulties facing them, however, supporters persuaded Speaker Carl Albert Wednesday to postpone the vote on the bill for at least two weeks to give them time to drum up support.

The opponents also are expected to make use of the extra time, however, and an opening shot in their campaign was fired Wednesday by the Congressional Black Caucus. The 13 black House members denounced the busing provisions and said they will vote against the bill.

At the same time, Rep. Joe D. Waggoner, D-La., a leader of antibusing forces, said he will work to defeat the bill because the original strong House stand against busing was weakened by the compromise that emerged from the House-Senate conference.

The House originally voted an outright ban on use of federal funds, force or persuasion for the purpose of busing to achieve racial balance, and a permanent delay in the implementation of all desegregation orders until the Supreme Court had had time to review them.

The compromise version would permit the expenditure of federal funds for busing when the local authorities request aid or the Constitution requires it, and would terminate the legislative staying court orders in 18 months.

Signs on Highway Need Permit

Little Rock (5-72) The Arkansas Highway Commission today passed a Minute Order adopting regulations which will require permits for outdoor advertising devices on the interstate and primary highways by October 1 of this year, except certain classes of outdoor advertising devices. Outdoor advertising devices which are located on the business premises that they are advertising will be exempt from these requirements.

The regulations also provide the standards for the erection and maintenance of official and directional signs.

Two classes of permits will be issued. Class A permits will be issued for outdoor advertising devices that are located in areas permitted under Arkansas' 1967 Beautification Act. Class B permits will be issued for all outdoor advertising devices which will be removed under the 1967 Highway Beautification Act.

The Highway Department plans to begin removing signs within the next three months and anticipates completing the removal of all signs which do not conform to the requirements of the Legislative Act by 1977.

After October 1st, signs without permit decals will be considered illegal and subject to removal without compensation by the Highway Department.

Act 640 of 1967, the Arkansas Highway Beautification Act provides that "the Commission shall give thirty (30) days notice, by certified mail, to the owner of the land on which such advertising device is located to remove same if it is a prohibited device or cause it to conform to regulations if it is an authorized device. If the owner of the property fails to act within thirty (30) days as required in the notice, the Commission shall remove the advertising device at the expense of the owner of the land."

Applications and information concerning permits will be obtained by writing "Billboard," Arkansas Highway Department, P. O. Box 2261, Little Rock, Arkansas 72203.

The price of the permits will be $10. Class A permits will be valid for two year periods and Class B permits will authorize advertising devices for five years or until the device is removed by the Department.

Congress May Order U.S. Forces From Indochina

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Foreign Affairs Committee Chairman Thomas E. Morgan says chances are good Congress will order U.S. forces out of the Indochina war by Oct. 1 in return for release of American prisoners.

But he adds "I don't think it'll do a damn bit of good..."

The Pennsylvania Democrat, who has turned about-face from supporting war policy to opposing it, said Wednesday he is pessimistic Hanoi would accept the terms even if President Nixon did.

Morgan said he believes his committee will approve within two weeks the joint resolution ordering all U.S. military forces out of Indochina by Oct. 1, subject to release of American POWs and assurance of a safe U.S. withdrawal.

If approved by the House and Senate it would have the force of law only if President Nixon signed it.

Morgan, who has voted against all previous proposals to put congressional restraints on the war, has said he will oppose adding any other provisions to the Oct. 1 war deadline, including a cease-fire, which he said would make the end-the-war offer too hard for Hanoi to accept.

Morgan said he began turning against continuation of the war after the Cambodia incursion. He said he would have voted for proposals last year to put a deadline on U.S. involvement if they had been tied only to release of American prisoners.

Casualties Increase In Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Eight Americans were killed in action in Vietnam last week and seven were missing, the U.S. Command announced today. It said another nine Americans died of nonhostile causes, including air crashes not due to enemy action, and 22 were wounded.

The total of 24 dead or missing was 12 less than the week before, when 13 men were reported killed in action, 18 died of nonhostile causes, five were missing and 26 were wounded.

Casualties among both North and South Vietnamese continued to increase due to the North Vietnamese offensive.

The Saigon command reported 757 South Vietnamese troops killed last week, 2,351 wounded and 214 missing in action. This was an increase of seven killed and 32 wounded compared to the previous week, but the number of missing was 130 fewer.

The government claimed 4,028 enemy killed and 106 captured last week, compared to 3,613 killed and 56 captured the week before.

Total casualties for the war, according to the allied commands, are:

—American, 45,755 killed in action, 303,031 wounded, 1,590 missing or captured, 10,179 dead of nonhostile causes, and missing not as a result of host action. Most of these are killed in air accidents in which the bodies have not been recovered or have not been identified.

CLARENDON, Ark. (AP) — Monroe County Sheriff Forrest Plumlee said the body of Roger Dale Gochenauer, 14, of Clarendon was recovered Wednesday from the White River south of Clarendon.

Plumlee said the youth drowned Tuesday afternoon while swimming in the river.

killed in action; 365,718 wounded.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, 835,691 killed.

The U.S. Command's weekly summaries have reported a total of 431 American casualties between the start of the enemy offensive March 30 and last Saturday. This includes 76 killed in action, 73 missing in action, 56 dead of nonhostile causes, 15 missing due to nonhostile causes and 211 wounded.

South Vietnamese casualties during the same period have been 5,671 killed and 17,690 wounded, while the government claims 30,015 of the enemy killed.

People who test drive a Chrysler, buy a Chrysler

Here's why:

"For the money I spent I got the best possible car I could buy. It's more car for the money than you'll get in any other brand."

"Women love like Chrysler. And for much the same reason as men. In a Chrysler you get a big car, with everything in it, but the price. And that's one of the most things about a Chrysler. See us and see why."

"I bought a Chrysler Royal and before I had checked it out against a comparably equipped Ford LTD and you know there wasn't $50 difference between the two."

JANE PHENA KNIGHT

Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Knight of Gould announce the engagement of their daughter, Jane Phena, to William Cummings Byers. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Orie O. Byers of Hope.

The marriage will be August 19 at Landmark Baptist Church in Gould.

Miss Knight is a graduate of Southeast Academy at Gould. She was the 1970 Gould Junior Miss and performed in the Top Ten Talent division of the state pageant that year in Little Rock.

She is presently a junior at the University of Arkansas where she is majoring in elementary education.

Mr. Byers is a 1968 graduate of Hope High School and a 1972 graduate of the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville. He holds a BSE degree from the University. Presently, he is an endorsed missionary to the academic community at Fayetteville, where he is involved in a teaching and counseling ministry.

Helen and Sue Bottel The Generation Gap

'Step' Makes the Difference

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:
My mother and step-father have been separated for seven years. He visits once a year or so. Sometimes less.

Last week he came again and said he was thinking about coming back for good, but meantime needed a place to stay overnight.

Instead of Mom putting him on the sofa she let him sleep with her—even though the sofa opens into a comfortable bed.

In my opinion, this equates my mother with a prostitute because the next morning he gave me some money to "help me through school." She said I don't understand.

What are your thoughts?—TOO MORAL AT 15?

DEAR TOO:

Tell me, if this man were your REAL father, would you worry about the "morality" of separated—though still married—people sleeping together? I'd guess his "coming back for good" reads "bad" to you, and you fear it may happen since they've shared a bed.

Let your mother make her own decisions, for it's true: you DON'T understand how lonely a woman gets without her man.—HELEN

P.S. If you accepted the money, I hope you thanked him for it.

DEAR TMAF:

You've got a lotta nerve, calling your own mother a prostitute when she's still married to the guy. But I don't think SHE is too swift, if she settles for a husband only one night a year or less.

That pitch about "coming back for good" sounded like a "pass" that turned into a touchdown. Maybe your mother will realize it when he pulls the old disappearing act again—and then you can be relieved when she (hopefully) cuts the last ties.—SUE

P.S. Or perhaps she'll just keep on hoping. Women are like that, I hear.—S.

DEAR RAP:

Not to be conceded, but I'm really nice to my sis, and here's what I get for it:

I was going to give her a surprise party for her birthday, but I got excited and spilled the beans. She said "Well, you can plan it, but please don't come, because you'll embarrass me in front of my friends." I wouldn't give her a party for anything now.

2. She accused me of reading her diary. I didn't even know she had one.

3. She blamed me for smoking in her room, when the cigarettes were HERS, and I got grounded.

I'm only a year and a half younger than she is but she acts like she's 10 years older. I'm always nice, but she puts me down and gets her friends to hate me. What should I do?—DEBBY

DEAR DEBBY:

Give the surprise party for a friend who will appreciate it, and stay out of your sister's way as much as possible until she outgrows the "Insecure Queen" stage and starts appreciating her family.

It probably won't take more than a year (but it may seem like ten to your parents).—HELEN

DEAR DEB:

At a certain point in their lives (usually around 14 or 15 big sisters hate more than anything to admit they like their "good-for-nothing" kid sisters. But we know better: it just takes a while for them to find out.

Your sis may be jealous of you. Or maybe she wants to be nicer but feels she can't, and still keep the respect of those older friends (who put down THEIR families too).

Even now she's probably feeling guilty, so don't try to "get even." Set an example and she may soon decide to follow it.—SUE

LAST WORD FROM HELEN:

Where were those words when I needed them, Sue? Had you been so wise when YOUR big sister was 15, life at the Bottel house would have been so much more peaceful!—HELEN

FINAL WORD FROM SUE:

How do you think I learned "em, Ma?—From discussions with my big sister, when we finally got to be friends.—SUE

WATER FOR FUTURE.

CONROE Tex. (AP) — The $28 million Lake Conroe Dam, expected to be completed in early September, may not yield expected results of increased water supply for two to four years.

Designed partially as a conserve drinking water supply, the Houston lake eventually will provide an additional 50 million gallons of water a day for the city.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Almost a million young men and women on more than 2,000 college campuses are graduating this season. Many will have a tough time finding jobs for which they have prepared.

Last year, according to a state senator, Michigan had 10,000 certified teachers who could not find jobs. A young married man in Pennsylvania who received a degree in economics six months ago is delivering newspapers for $70 a week. In Rochester, N.Y., a man with an engineering degree is working as a department store security guard. And a man with a Ph.D. in American history is jockeying cars in a parking garage—he has received, he said, "no good responses to more than 300 letters he sent to colleges in search of a teaching job."

These are a few examples of the many cited in a "CBS Reports" hour to be broadcast tonight from 8 to 9 p.m. EDT. Called "Higher Education: Who Needs It?" the program is worth a thoughtful look by college students, present and potential, and by their parents.

Reporter Hughes Rudd and a camera crew interviewed an assortment of educators and students. They found everywhere what one college administrator called "the oversupply problem"—too many applicants with degrees for too few jobs requiring them.

The program was not all on the negative side, however. Rudd found the nation has an enormous shortage of trained people for jobs that do not require college degrees. An executive of one of the big three car manufacturing companies said his corporation needs 20,000 trained automotive mechanics right now—and estimated the national need at more than 100,000.

In Grand Rapids, Mich., Rudd visited Ferris State College, which specializes in vocational education, turning out trained technicians and mechanics who receive starting salaries of $9,000 to $12,000. The college president noted that "there isn't a licensed plumber" in the city, but said he had a list of 300 applicants with master's and doctoral degrees.

Specialists and experts interviewed persistently knocked down what Rudd called "an article of faith"—that a college degree is a passport to success, money and the better life.

The FFA and FHA closed their year activities with their Annual Banquet May 11, at 7 o'clock p.m. The theme: "We learn By Doing", was used.

Guest speaker was James Mason, Farmer Home Administration, Little Rock. The entire program was very interesting and enjoyable. The evening event climaxed with Alvin Stewart, Social Study Instructor presiding.

A token of appreciation was presented to Dr. L. W. Williamson, former Principal of Lincoln High, from the FFA and FHA Chapters.

The Adult Home Economics Classes of Washington will climax May 26, at 8:30 p.m. with a good attendance throughout. "Consumer Rights and Responsibilities", was the title of the unit of study.

The enrollment consisted of young homemakers and senior citizens.

Topics of interest discussed were:

- Consumer's Rights To Be Informed.
- Consumer's Rights To Selection.
- Consumer's Rights To Performance.
- Consumer's Rights To Safety.
- Consumer's Rights To Recourse.

Several articles and dresses were made, also food dishes prepared and served.

Miss Kitty Loves Her Cats

By DICK KLEINER
HOLLYWOOD — (N.E.A.) — Gunsmoke is going into its 18th season, which means that it's old enough to vote.

That's kind of a frightening thought for Amanda Blake. She has been playing Kitty on the CBS show since it began. What started out as a tentative job has almost bridged a generation. But she's ready for another season, undaunted, unboored and very rich.

She is, however, looking ahead to the inevitable day when the show goes off the air. And her plans revolve around her love for animals.

At the moment she and her husband Frank Gilbert live in Phoenix, Ariz. She virtually commutes to Los Angeles to shoot the show—on her private plane. But she says it's worth it because on the Arizona place she has room for her lion.

Kemo is a 200-pounder who roams the fenced-in yard. His friends are Theda, the raccoon, a couple of horses, a Shetland pony, five dogs and four cats.

And there's a recent addition to the menagerie—a leopard cub Amanda picked up from one of those exotic pet stores. She gets violent on the subject of how so many of these places mistreat animals.

She says she "rescued" the cub from the store's clutches. They were feeding it horsemeat which, she says, isn't adequate for wild animals. They need other things for a balanced diet.

"But you can't just go in and pay the price they ask,"

Amanda Blake
Wealthy and enjoying her career, but looking forward to retiring.

she says. "They may be asking $300, but you have to wait until the animal gets a little sick. Then you can get it for about $50 or so. That way the store owner doesn't make a profit and can't buy any more."

Besides all that Gilbert is a bird lover and raises various exotic breeds of pheasants.

Not long ago they went to Africa for the first time. Amanda says her husband wasn't too keen on the trip although she had always wanted to go.

"I've been playing Tarzan and Jane since I was a kid," she says. "But when we got there he liked it as much as I did."

Now they're thinking of buying a place in Kenya, about a 40-minute drive outside of Nairobi. There's a little farm for sale—17 acres, complete with a house, barns, kennels, everything a nice animal-lover from Hollywood could want.

"And it's only 57 thou," she says.

They're planning to go back and look at it on the show's next hiatus, probably this summer. If they like it, she says, they'll buy it and eventually move there permanently. They'd use it for their vacations until Gunsmoke calls it quits, then make the permanent move.

But it may be a bunch of years yet until Gunsmoke is shot down. It shows no signs of losing its appeal. And the studio just redecorated her dressing room. "They don't do that for sinking shows."

Her dressing room, as it now stands, is right out of the period, with pseudo-Dodge City decor. The refrigerator has a false front—it looks like an old safe. And over the bar reclines a nude lady in a lush painting.

So it looks like the show will linger a while longer. And Amanda, although she talks longingly about retiring to Africa in one breath, turns around and talks about her career just as excitedly in the next.

"I love working," she says. "I want to keep on working. The only way they'll get me to quit is to carry me out of the studio feet first."

Murder Charges Filed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Six charges were filed Wednesday in Pulaski County Circuit Court by Pros. Atty. Jim Guy Tucker against Ronald J. Campbell, 25.

Campbell is charged with first-degree murder, three counts of assault with intent to kill, one count of kidnapping in the second degree and one count of robbery.

The murder charge was in connection with the fatal shooting May 17 of Edgar H. White Jr., 28, of North Little Rock.

The robbery charge and the kidnapping charge stem from the robbery Monday afternoon of a First Federal Savings & Loan Association office and the kidnapping of a woman employee. One of the charges of assault with intent to kill was in connection with shots fired at White's truck, which also was occupied by Miss Phyllis Ann Thone, 19, of North Little Rock.

Hope Star Sports Blue Off To Bad Start

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Here comes Vida Blue. Oops—there goes Vida Blue. Oakland's illustrious left-hander made his long-awaited debut Wednesday night, but he didn't make it very good.

Pitching one inning of relief in a brief warmup for his first start, Blue gave up two hits and two walks and took the defeat as the California Angeles beat the A's 6-5.

"He had to be nervous," said Oakland Manager Dick Williams. "The first time out, he's got to have a lot of pressure on him."

Blue, a 24-game winner who claimed both the Most Valuable Player and Cy Young awards last season in the American League, was a stubborn holdout this year and didn't sign his contract until several weeks of the season had elapsed. He's slowly peaking toward his first start this weekend.

In the other American League games Wednesday night, the Chicago White Sox defeated the Texas Rangers 5-1; the Minnesota Twins nudged the Kansas City Royals 1-0 in 12 innings; the Baltimore Orioles trimmed the Boston Red Sox 4-1; the Detroit Tigers topped the Milwaukee Brewers 5-3 and the New York Yankees beat the Cleveland Indians 4-2.

Blue got the call against California while sparse crowd of a little more than 3,000 at Oakland Coliseum applauded his entrance. The score was 4-4 when the stylish shouthpaw came in and threw four straight balls to Art Kusnyer.

Then he fired a wild pitch, allowing Kusnyer to take second, before walking Sandy Alomar. Ken Berry and Vada Pinson followed with run-scoring singles, both solid shots.

Those two runs proved to be the winning margin, giving Don Rose his first major league victory. The young pitcher entered the books with a night's work that included a home run on the first pitch thrown to him in the big time. Only six others in the history of major league baseball have done it.

Rick Reichardt doubled home three runs to cap a five-run burst in the first inning that carried hot Chicago past Texas for its 12th victory in 13 games. Tom Bradley stopped the Rangers on four hits, including Dick Billings' ninth-inning home run.

Texas starter Bill Gogolewski was rached for five hits and all five runs in the White Sox' decisive rally.

Rod Carew's run-scoring single broke a scoreless tie in the 12th inning, lifting Minnesota over Kansas City. The single scored Danny Thompson, who had opened with a double off Dick Drago.

The rally gave the victory to Jim Kaat, who had pitched a five-hitter for 11 innings and worked out of tight squeezes in both the 10th and 11th. Wayne Granger pitched the final inning for the Twins to save Kaat's fifth victory in six games.

Andy Etchebarren's two-run single capped a four-run rally in the eighth inning as Baltimore erased a one-run deficit and came back to beat Boston.

The Oriole rally was aided by an error by Red Sox second baseman Doug Griffin that allowed Tercy Crowley to score from third with the tying run. Then Brooks Robinson walked with the bases loaded, forcing in the go-ahead run before Etchebarren came through with his base hit off Lew Krausse.

Aurelio Rodriguez struck a two-out, bases-loaded single in the eighth inning, giving Detroit its victory over Milwaukee.

Jim Northrup triggered the rally with an infield hit and was sacrificed to second. After an intentional walk to Mickey Stanley, Ed Brinkman flied to right, but pinch-hitter Gates Brown, walked to load the bases and set the table for Rodriguez.

Frazier Defends Title Tonight

By DAN EVEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Slugger Ron Stander and champion Joe Frazier clash here tonight in the first championship fight in Nebraska's 105-year history.

Frazier is rated a 10-1 favorite to retain his heavyweight title in the scheduled 15-round bout which is expected to draw a capacity crowd of 10,050 to Omaha's Civic Auditorium.

Frazier's fourth title defense also will be witnessed by a national television audience. TVS will carry the bout beginning at 10 p.m. EDT on a 150-station network.

Umpire Calls Wrong Play

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — It's too late now, but the official scorer and umpires missed one a couple weeks ago when West Jefferson High won the state high school baseball championship.

Frank Steele of losing Walker High hit a fly with two out in the last of the sixth. The ball struck a pigeon, which fell dead to the ground, while the ball was caught by the second baseman.

"Out," shouted the umpire. But he shouldn't have.

The recently published book called "Knotty Problems," based on professional baseball rules, has a section called, "fly strikes bird, is caught."

It reads "the batter is not out since the ball no longer is legally 'in flight' and therefore is not legally caught, the ball remains in play and the batter can advance at his own risk."

There is no word on what would have happened if the fielder caught the pigeon.

Nat'l Hockey League Expands Membership

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Two of its member clubs, the New York Islanders and Atlanta, don't have a single player yet, but the National Hockey League is charging into expansion again.

The league's Board of Governors is expected to swell NHL membership to 18 teams today after it hears applications from groups representing Kansas City, Kan., San Diego, Phoenix and Washington, D.C.

The expansion meeting began Wednesday with presentations from Kansas City, Mo., Cincinnati, Cleveland, Indianapolis and Dallas.

Sitting and listening closely to the presentations were Roy Boe of the Islanders and Bill Putnam of the new Atlanta franchise. They don't have votes on the board yet and, in fact, won't even have any players until the expansion draft scheduled for the first week in June.

But the NHL said when it added the Islanders and Atlanta to the league last Novemanimals," said Stander, the un-ranked challenger from crossriver Council Bluffs, Iowa. "but I am going to be in there to the finish."

The form, however, forecasts the finish could come early for the 27-year-old "Bluffs Butcher."

Frazier will carry a 28-0 pro record into the bout and has put all but four of his victims away by knockouts.

Stander is 23-1-1, but has met only Manuel Ramos among the name fighters.

The challenger also has the reputation of being a "bleeder"—he has had 60 stitches in his pro career—although he has knocked out 15 opponents.

"Neither fighter is the type who is going to back off," said Dick Noland, Stander's manager. "But I think Ronnie is in good enough shape to stay in there the distance."

Frazier, 28, will be making his first outing since stopping Terry Daniels in four rounds Jan. 15 in New Orleans.

"Joe has trained just as hard for this fight as when he met Jerry Quarry, Bob Foster or Muhammad Ali," offered Frazier's manager, Yancey Durham.

The chief benefactor from the bout will be the Yancey Durham Jr., Sickle Cell Anemia Foundation.

Frazier is donating half of his share of the proceeds to the foundation. Manager Durham, whose four-year-old son has the disease, is giving all his share.

The sponsoring Cornhusker Boxing Club is giving $5,000 and Stander has promised a share of his cut of the purse.

Frazier is guaranteed $150,000 from television and 40 per cent of the live gate after taxes. Stander's share is 20 per cent of the gate and half of the foreign television money.

Baseball Semifinals

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Marvell, Greenwood, Sylvan Hills and Junction City advanced Wednesday to the semifinals of the state high school baseball tournament here.

In quarterfinal games Wednesday, Marvell nipped Hardy Highland 6-5, Greenwood clipped Dover 5-3, Sylvan Hills bombed St. Charles 17-5 and Junction City nudged Hope 6-4.

Mike Arnold belted a three-run homer and Phil Bradley a two-run shot for Sylvan Hills, which scored its runs on 12 hits, nine walks and seven St. Charles errors.

Morton Pitches No-Hitter Cubs Down N.Y. Mets 5-1

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Carl Morton knew he'd pitch a one-hitter Wednesday night. A fan told him so.

It was Montreal's annual Meet the Expos Night at Jarry Park and a smiling Morton related that one spectator told him:

"I can't wish that you'll get a no-hitter, but I can wish that you will get a one-hitter. If you strike out the first batter, you'll get it."

The first batter for Philadelphia was Denny Doyle and he watched a third strike breeze by. The only hit off Morton was Mike Anderson's third-inning triple as the Expos posted a 4-1 triumph, edged past Philadelphia to fourth place in the National League, and dealt the Phillies their ninth loss in a row.

Elsewhere, the Chicago Cubs downed the New York mets 5-1, Pittsburgh outsluged St. Louis 9-4 in 14 innings, Houston shaded San Deigo 4-2, San Francisco nipped Los Angeles 1-0 and Atlanta turned back Cincinnati 4-2.

After winning Rookie of the Year honors with an 18-11 record in 1970, Morton struggled through a 10-18 campaign last season and had dropped four of his first five 1972 decisions.

"I've been throwing the ball well this year," said the red-haired right-hander. "I've had good velocity but I've been getting the ball high."

Anderson scored after his triple, on Doyle's sacrifice fly, tying the score. But the Expos took the lead for good in the bottom of the third on Hector Torres' home run and Bob Bailey homered an inning later.

The Cubs made it two in a row over the Mets as Jose Cardenal slugged a pair of two-run homers off rookie Buzz Capra, Billy Williams hit a solo shot and Burt Hooton, another rookie pitched a five-hitter.

It was the Mets' second loss in a row following an 11-game winning streak and trimmed their lead in the NL East to four games over the streaking Pirates, who have won nine in a row.

The Bucs had to go 14 innings to beat the Cards after both teams scored twice in the ninth.

Richie Hebner started the five-run 14th with a walk off Dennis Higgins, the fifth St. Louis pitcher, and Manny Sanguillen singled him to third. Gene Alley bounced to third baseman Joe Torre, whose throw to the plate struck Hebner. Dave Cash and Al Oliver drove in the other runs with two-run singles.

Earlier, Roberto Clemente hit a two-run homer for the Pirates and Ted Simmons smacked a Solo circuit for the Cards, who have dropped 11 of their last 13 games.

Doug Rader drove in the go-ahead run with a bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the sixth and Tommy Helms added a run-scoring single as the Astros beat the Padres for their fifth straight victory and stretched their lead over the Dodgers in the NL West to 2½ games. Houston's Lee May and San Diego's Leron Lee traded two-run homers.

San Francisco's Steve Stone blanked Los Angeles on eight hits for his first 1972 triumph. The Giants managed only three

Competition No Stranger To Indy Driver

By KAROL STONGER

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Salt Walther, the baby of this year's Indianapolis 500, cut his teeth on competition.

His grandfather, George Walther Sr., toured the famous oval shortly after the turn of the century—in a bicycle race. His opponent was Barney Oldfield, a 500 driving champion who would race on just about anything. Grandpa Walther won laurels grandly known as the Tri-State cycling championship.

Salt's father, George Jr., a Dayton, Ohio, industrialist, was an avid boat racer who just nussed the National Hydroplane Championship in 1964.

Because of his family background and the fact he and three-time Indy winner A. J. Foyt are the only drivers among 33 who own their own cars, Salt was tagged as just

All-Star Team

The Hope Park and Recreation Department will be sponsoring this Midget Division Jr. Olympic All-Star team to the First Annual AAU Jr. Olympic Boys National Basketball Championship to be held in Poplar Bluff, Missouri on June 15-16-17. Our local team will be the Arkansas representative in the 11 and under age group at this national tournament.

Opening ceremonies will be held on Wednesday evening, June 14, with competition to begin Thursday morning, June 15th at the Poplar Bluff Senior High School Gymnasium. Each team will play a minimum of two games.

AAU Jr. Olympic National Championship Medals will be awarded to the first six teams in the championship bracket and the championship and runner-up teams in the consolation bracket. Individual awards will be made to the outstanding players and individual awards to a tournament all-star team. This tournament all-star team will represent the United States at the International Mini Basketball Jamboree in Almenia, Spain in July.

Unser Sets Pace For Saturday Race

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Stability was the goal instead of speed, but Bobby Unser set the pace again in the final warmup before Saturday's 500-mile race with a cruise at 188-plus miles per hour.

Unser was one of half a dozen drivers who turned in speeds of better than 180 miles per hour in the tune-up drives known as carburetor tests Wednesday.

The idea of the tests is to give drivers and mechanics some idea of fuel consumption and tire wear they can expect under race conditions. But a number of the drivers obviously had an eye cocked toward the race, in which the minimum early pace is expected to be 185 m.p.h.

Unser had won the pole position with a record-shattering 195.940 in the four-lap, 10-mile qualifying run.

Gordon Johncock, who will start 26th in the field of 33, turned in a warmup lap of 186.461.

A. J. Foyt, who starts 17th, and Al Unser, 1970-71 winner who starts 19th, hit laps between 184 and 185 m.p.h. Gary Bettenhausen and Mario An-dretti, who start in the second row, and third-place starter Mark Donohue went 181 or better.

Andy Granatelli's STP No. 40, wrecked after qualification by Art Pollard, who broke his leg, was brought out for several laps by Wally Dallenbach and Indianapolis Motor Speedway officials confirmed it as Saturday's 33rd starter.

Bee Bee Bee Won't Run

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bee Bee Bee, who won the Pre-akness in an upset last Saturday, will not be entered in the Triple Crown Belmont Stakes trainer Del Carroll said Wednesday.

"For one thing, he's a poor shipper. For another, I think he's had enough racing for the moment," Carroll said.

Carroll also said Bee Bee will not run in the Jersey Derby May 29 but added that current plans call for him to run in the $50,000-added Richard Stakes at Delaware Park on June 18.

Nicklaus Returns to Action

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, returning to action after a virus infection, flamboyant Lee Trevino and south African Gary Player headed a strong field of 114 in today's opening round of the $130,000 Atlanta Golf Classic.

"Last week I was sick with a virus and I'd like to be in better shape," said Nicklaus. "But I'm all right now. I hope the layoff helped me. We'll just see if it did this week."

Nicklaus, the game's all-time leading money winner, is making this event at the hilly, 6883-yard, par 72 Atlanta Country Club course his last scheduled appearance until the United States Open at Pebble Beach, Calif., June 13-18. It's there that the Golden Bear will go for the second leg of an unprecedented pro Grand Slam of golf titles in the U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and the Masters, which he won in April.

Trevino and Player, who holds the best over-all scores in the five previous Atlanta tournaments, missed last year's playoff by one shot, tying for third place. Dickinson was forced to withdraw because of a neck ailment, but the other four former champions are in the field—Bob Charles, Bob Lunn, Bert Yancey and Tommy Aaron.

Among the other leading contenders are Australia's Bruce Crampton, Jerry Heard, Frank Beard, Dave Hill, Bruce Devlin, Chi Chi Rodriguez and Bobby Mitchell.

another rich kid here for a lark.

But Salt isn't exactly a dilettante at racing.

A V-shaped, 6-foot-1, 195-pound weight lifter at age 24, he has 10 years of experience in boat, motorcycle and sprint and championship dirt car racing. He came to the Speedway last season, but Dick King, director of USAC competition, deemed him too green to take his driver's test.

"I don't say whether they were right or wrong," said Salt. "But I know I've learned a pot in the last year."

"Everyone complimented me on how smooth my driving tests was. I never spun. I never even tapped the wall."

Veterans were surprised at the consistency of his qualifying laps—180.216, 180.796, 180.423, 180.723.

The 180.542 average put him in the field on the outside of the ninth row. He joined seven other rookies—Sam Posey, Swede Savage, John Martin, Mike Hiss, John Mahler, Lee Kunzman and Jim Caruthers—for Saturday's $1 million classic.

He agrees with the veterans that rookies are the guys who have to be watched once all 33 cars are on the track.

"I don't blame them for not wanting rookies in the field," said the veteran boat racer. "In hydroplanes I don't like to be running next to rookies, either. But that's what the driver's test is all about. I'll just try to keep out of their way and do the best I can."

"Everyone has to be a rookie sometime."

Salt, a swinging bachelor, owns his own home in his native Dayton and has a mountain lion for a pet.

Pro Football Coach Hears Many Gripes

By HAL ROYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a professional football coach gets tired of hearing:

"As players, we think we ought to have two coffeekicks in each game."

"The trouble with your team, Butch McGurgle, is that you have only two kinds of players—those who have brains but no brawn and those who have brawn but no brains."

"You know, when you boil all your troubles down, you've got only one single basic problem—how to win football games. Doesn't that kind of help simplify your thinking?"

"As players, we think you should give us a written guarantee that no one has to play if he has one or more broken bones."

"I told the quarterback you wanted him but he says he's too busy to talk to you now. He's posing for a cover for TV Guide."

"I think we'll have the team pretty well balanced racially, coach, if you can just scrounge us up a good Chinese center. You know there are 150,000 Chinese living in our metropolitan area."

"You can get a pension in Manhattan for sweeping up garbage for only 20 years. As players, we think we're entitled to one after three years."

"Coach, my editor has thought up a swell idea for a woman's page feature this season. He wants you to get your wife to write a bylined article after each game criticizing the plays you called."

"As players, we think any of the guys who go through an entire game without getting hurt

Error in Ballot Count, Announces New Winner

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Drama Critics Circle discovered Tuesday night that because of a ballot-counting error it had made a mistake in announcing its choice as the best play of the season.

The drama which actually received the highest point tally from the 21 voting members is "That Championship Season" by Jason Miller, instead of "Sticks and Bones" by David Rabe.

Henry Hewes, critic for the Saturday Review and president of the circle, notified the membership of the mistake. He said the ballots which were counted by him and Clive Barnes, critic for the New York Times and vice president of the group, had been inaccurately tallied at the Monday meeting.

A point-weighted vote is used by the circle in which each critic names three plays as first,

Putt-Putt Tournament Announced

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Labeling their move "an attempt to break the veil of obscurity," the Professional Putters Association announced plans Monday for a $200,000 world putt-putt tournament which will have its championship rounds Aug. 14-16 in Winston-Salem.

The winner will receive $15,000.

"This is a blatant attempt to popularize our sport, to break the veil of obscurity, to create superstars," admitted Don Clayton, founder of putt-putt golf and chairman of the board of the PPA.

"We're the No. 1 recreation sport in America, even ahead of bowling, but a lot of people don't know our champions because we have not had the dollar bills that go by a champion's name."

Clayton said a total of 63 qualifying tournaments, each with a purse of $1,000, will be held across the country.

Letter of Intent

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — University of Arkansas basketball coach Lanny Van Eman announced today that he has signed Kevin Lane of Altus, Okla., to a letter of intent.

Lane, a 6-foot-2 guard, averaged 16.8 points a game this year and guided Altus to an 18-5 record.

Brewer Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
San Antonio pinch hitter Dennis Holmberg slammed an eighth-inning double to drive in the tie-breaking run Wednesday night and give the Brewers a 4-3 victory over Alexandria in the only Texas League game.

The Aces rallied in the ninth, sending eventual winning pitcher Porifiro Sanchez to the showers, but John Conzatti struck out the last three men to ice the triumph.

A full schedule is on tap tonight as interdivision play continues. Arkansas will go to El Paso to meet the West Division leading Sun-Dodgers. Alexandria will be at Amarillo, Shreveport will be at San Antonio and East leader Memphis will visit Midland.

French Tennis

PARIS (AP) — The French Open Tennis Tournament, having dispensed with its preliminary competition, begins serious business today with seven American men in the field of 64 and eight United States women in the third round group of 32.

Heading the men's contingent is Stan Smith of Sea Pines, S.C., Clark Graebner of New York, Tom Gorman of Seattle and Jimmy Connors of Belleville, Ill. The others are Brian Gottfried of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Alex Olmedo of Encino, Calif. and Harold Solomon of Silver Springs, Md.

All except Gottfried received exemptions into the third round. He reached it by winning matches Monday and Tuesday.

Mona Schallau of Iowa City, Iowa and Pam Teeguarden of Los Angeles were the only American women to survive preliminary action.

Conference Speaker

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Coach Tom Landry of the Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys will be a featured speaker at Arkansas Tech College here for the National Conference of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

First conference will be May 28-June 2 with the second continuing June 4-June 9. The conferences inaugurate the FCA's summer schedule, which includes 16 conferences in 11 states, coast to coast.

First Black Commander

BAD KREUZNACH, West Germany (AP) — Maj. Gen. Frederic E. Davison has taken command of the 8th Infantry Division, becoming the first black divisional commander in Army history.

The 54-year-old Vietnam veteran, former deputy chief of staff for personnel for the U.S. Army Europe, took over as commander of the 15,000-man division in ceremonies Tuesday. Davison is a native of Washington, D.C., and earned a commission in the Reserve Officers Training Corps at Howard University in 1938. He served in Vietnam from 1967 until 1969.

Secretary of State Race Gets Notice

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A race marked by campaign gimmickery and acrimony, the battle for secretary of state has attracted more attention than usual this year.

Three challengers oppose Secretary of State Kelly Bryant, seeking a sixth two-year term, in next Tuesday's primary.

They are state Sen. Oscar Alagood of Little Rock, businessman Vernon Whitten of Bearden and John L. "Jack" Riggs of North Little Rock, an employee of Bryant who resigned to run against his boss.

Bryant, 63, has largely ignored his opponents, particularly, Alagood, the most persistent critic of the incumbent.

Bob Brier, an aide to Bryant, has said the secretary of state "does not have time to respond to political charges of his opponents."

"He's too busy being secretary of state," Brier said.

Bryant also has appeared to campaign little in comparison to the other candidates.

Riggs, 34, an outdoor enthusiast, started a 290-mile hike from West Memphis to Fort Smith to publicize his candidacy, but claimed that complication from a wasp sting on his foot last week postponed the finishing leg of the trek.

Alagood, 47, has been stumping the state in an air-conditioned motor home, a vehicle with many of the comforts of home that the senator calls his traveling campaign headquarters.

"These little ole legs wouldn't get me to the city limits," says the 5-foot-2 senator in explaining why he would not attempt a feat such as Riggs' hike.

Wearing a straw hat adorned with a wrap-around Alagood for Secretary of State bumper sticker, the senator jumps from the vehicle after rolling into a town and passes out key rings and campaign cards while greeting the voters. The cards contain recipes.

Whitten, 61, a real estate man who ran for governor in 1962, says two important issues in the race are what he considers mistreatment of state employees and mismanagement of fiscal affairs.

Whitten said an atmosphere of "unhappiness and unrest" had been created by the actions of Bryant.

He also claimed that spending for maintenance at the Capitol building had increased behind "all standards of reason and justification." The secretary of state is in charge of maintenance at the Capitol.

Alagood has accused Bryant of violating state law by using the Capitol to store campaign materials and by forcing his staff to campaign for him. Riggs, who worked in the secretary of state's office for nine years, said he helped silkscreen Bryant posters in the Capitol basement for past campaigns.

Alagood, a businessman and former television broadcaster serving his sixth year in the state legislature, has criticized Bryant's handling of state printing business, including what Alagood said was Bryant's authorization of a "ridiculously exorbitant" payment of $1.11 per page for proofreading the 1971 legislative acts.

The Democrat Printing & Lithographing Co. of Little Rock had the contract for the work, but Alagood claims the proofreading actually was done by Bryant's aides.

Riggs, Whitten and Alagood say they want to clear up "confusion" surrounding the transaction of state printing business. This position arises from Bryant's decision several months ago to throw out the apparent low bids on four printing contracts on grounds of a technical violation, an action that is being litigated in court.

Whitten also has criticized Bryant for closing the Capitol to visitors on weekends, although Bryant has now opened it, saying that he had now worked out a plan of maintaining weekend security for the building.

Chief among the campaign platforms of Bryant's opponents is a pledge to strengthen the secretary of state's office as a public relations arm of the state.

Alagood also has said he would work for construction of a state library and archives.

Allegations Incorrect On Arms Limitations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration says allegations by conservatives that the imminent U.S.-Soviet arms-limitation agreement will give the Soviet Union an unbeatable lead in nuclear weapons are incorrect.

State Department spokesman Charles W. Bray said Wednesday the agreement "is as much in the interests of the United States as of the Soviet Union, and certainly in the interests of the world community."

Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, said Tuesday the proposed arrangements "are one-sided on their face" and would "doom the United States to nuclear inferiority."

The agreement is expected to be signed in Moscow Friday. The aim of the negotiations, started in 1969, is to curb the arms race.

Critics contend the pact would impose ceilings allowing the Soviet Union to maintain half again as many land-based intercontinental missiles as the United States while giving the USSR at least as many submarine missiles.

The administration argues that this would be offset by U.S. superiority in the numbers of warheads.

The projected U.S. total for the number of warheads by the end of 1972 was given as 5,700 compared with 2,500 for the Soviet Union.

Angela Davis Defense Ends Testimony

By EDITH M. LEDERER Associated Press Writer

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — The defense in the Angela Davis murder-kidnap-conspiracy trial has ended its case without calling the 28-year-old black Communist to testify.

Imprisoned Soledad Brother Fleeta Drumgo, the final witness in three days of defense testimony, said Wednesday he knew nothing of a 1970 courthouse escape attempt which the prosecution says was aimed at freeing him and the other two Soledad Brothers, Jonathan and the late George Jackson.

Prosecutor Albert Harris Jr. said he probably would call rebuttal witnesses Friday. Superior Court Judge Richard E. Aronson said he hoped to order final arguments next Tuesday.

Miss Davis, a former UCLA philosophy instructor, is accused of furnishing George Jackson's 17-year-old brother Jonathan with four guns and helping him plot the escape try at the Marin County Civic Center in San Rafael which ended in gunfire and the deaths of Jonathan, a judge and two convicts.

The state contends she was driven by passion for George Jackson to try to free him from San Quentin Prison, where the Soledad Brothers were awaiting trial on charges of murdering a Soledad Prison guard.

The defense called 12 witnesses to counter prosecution testimony that placed Miss Davis with Jonathan Jackson in the days before the shootout on Aug. 7, 1970—and to explain how Jonathan got without her knowledge the four guns she has admitted were hers.

The prosecution called 95 witnesses during seven weeks of testimony in its attempt to link Miss Davis with Jonathan Jackson and the escape plot.

Drumgo's testimony was a firm but soft-spoken denial that he knew anything about the escape plan although his cell was next to that of James McClain, who died in the shooting.

"Did Mr. McClain or anyone else ever tell you there was going to be an escape attempt at the courthouse and the purpose of it was to free the Soledad Brothers?" defense attorney Leo A. Branton asked.

"No," replied Drumgo. "I didn't know that directly until I read it in the paper... they didn't say anything about it in the news... on the prison radio... I read it in the paper the next day."

SAYS . . .

Know The Facts

1. My opponent announced at the beginning of the Prosecuting Attorney's race that he was running on the record that he had made as Deputy Prosecuting Attorney. However, he has never told us what that record is. Let's look at that record.

Of the 379 cases disposed of in Miller County since he has been Deputy Prosecuting Attorney... 190 have been dismissed... 160 pled guilty... and 29 were tried.

Don't you think we should be told why 190 cases have been dismissed? Does this mean that 190 innocent people were charged with crime or does it mean that 190 criminals were "excused" by Mr. Smith?

Of the 29 cases that were tried only 69 percent resulted in convictions. Is this the type law enforcement our district deserves?

2. Damon Young's fellow lawyers have given him the highest available rating for legal ability. (See Martindale-Hubbell Law Directory 1972)

My opponent's fellow lawyers have given him the lowest available rating for legal ability. (See Martindale-Hubbell Law Directory 1972)

3. Having lived in several locations — moving from County to County — does not qualify one to handle the job of Prosecuting Attorney.

4. Having relatives who want to see you elected is not a qualification for the job of Prosecuting Attorney.

Compare the record, the qualifications and the ability of the two candidates. Elect the man who will do the best job for our district as Prosecuting Attorney.

Fire Sweeps Jakarta Port

JAKARTA (AP) — Sixty-six persons were killed and 32 ships destroyed in a fire that swept through Jakarta's main harbor area Wednesday, police reported.

Two of the ships destroyed were owned by an American oil firm, the independent Indonesian-American Petroleum Co., but it was not known if any Americans were aboard.

Authorities ordered an investigation into the cause of the fire. There was speculation the final death toll might be higher.

Police said frogmen recovered the bodies of 55 victims, some of them trapped inside their burning ships.

Port officials declined to speculate on how the fire started but said they found a leak in a pipe from an oil terminal near the harbor.

"Workers had noted the leakage from the pipeline, but nothing was done about it until the tragedy," said one official.

The oil terminal was not damaged.

A police official said seconds after the fire broke out at dawn the "sea suddenly became a blazing inferno with people and boats racing to get out of range. But they were caught by surprise and most of them were either burned alive, drowned or trapped in their sinking ships."

Fifty-seven persons were treated for injuries.

Pupils Sentenced

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP) — In the final 26 cases resulting from the disruption of classes Jan. 13 at Marianna's Lee County High School, Municipal Court Judge Cecil Matthews of Stuttgart found 17 of the pupils guilty and nine innocent in a ruling Wednesday.

The cases, heard Saturday, were the last of 117 that grew out of a protest demonstration. Matthews had taken the cases under advisement since Saturday.

Matthews sentenced the 17 to six months in jail and a $200 fine with four months of the jail term and $100 of the fine suspended. The judge said he would suspend the remaining two months of the sentence provided the pupils were enrolled in school and abiding by the school's rules and regulations as of Sept. 1.

Summit Talks Sounds Anti Marxist

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The dogma of Marx, Lenin and Stalin is taking something of a beating in the summit of Soviet leaders with President Nixon.

The leaders of the Politburo are beginning, it would appear, to appreciate the ways of capitalism. They are eager to expand trade with the United States within a capitalist credit framework. They want collaboration in science and technology. They want cooperation in the field of environmental protection. All this is quite anti-Marxist.

Take the agreement to collaborate on environmental protection. According to Marxist-Leninist dogma, natural resources are the property of everybody to be used at will by the state in the name of the people. Pollution should be impossible in a Marxist-Socialist state. It should be regarded as a product of an exploitative capitalist system.

But in the last decade or so the facts of life caught up with the Soviet Union as with all industrialized countries. The leaders are now about to set out to do what a prominent dissident urged four years ago—in an underground pamphlet.

The 1968 pamphlet of A.D. Sakharov, a physicist, said the two superpowers, rather than spend their wealth on weapons of mass destruction, might better seek ways to cooperate in saving the world from pollution and avoiding such situations as "the sadly celebrated problem" of Lake Baikal, which was being poisoned by industrial waste.

"Otherwise," Sakharov wrote, "the U.S.S.R. poisons the United States with its wastes while the United States poisons the U.S.S.R. with its."

If ideology might interfere with a program clearly in the Soviet interest, the Politburo seems perfectly capable of ignoring ideology. There is much to be done on an international scale in research and development of programs that can attack poisoned air and water, eroded lands and all the other plagues of a modern world's industrial society. Russia's problems in this department are less than America's, but they are increasing swiftly.

In the case of cybernetics, or computer science, the Communists applied it to military and space technology but until late in the Khrushchev era its use in the consumer economy would have been equated with some sort of capitalist quackery.

Now the Politburo reaches eagerly for a scientific-technological accord with the chief capitalist nation. There is little doubt that it would like access to U.S. computer technology in the consumer field, where the Russians have made a slow start and lag behind the West.

The Soviet leaders would not allow any East European nation to go as far as Moscow is going with the United States. When Czechoslovakia attempted an opening to the West in similar style, Czechoslovakia was clobbered by Soviet might.

It is a question of might making right.

Holds Woman Hostage While Bargaining With Police

By JOHN HOTARD
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — A man who held a young woman hostage for hours at pistol point surrendered the weapon shortly before 9 a.m. today in the Dallas Police Headquarters, a police spokesman said.

The man, demanding that a jet plane be put at his disposal, agreed about an hour earlier to go to downtown headquarters from Love Field and negotiate with Police Chief Frank Dyson.

It appeared he still had some control of the situation in headquarters until he gave the pistol to Assistant Police Chief Paul Townsend.

A Police spokesman identified the man as Virgil Lee Fuqua of Dallas.

The woman who was held hostage is Mrs. James Roberts, 20, of Waco.

The abduction began early Thursday when a man held up the grocery store being operated by her husband.

The man forced Mrs. Roberts to drive him to a Fort Worth air field to try to get a plane, and when none was available the pair drove to Dallas, the man demanding that a jet plane be ready and fueled for him.

Coleman Criticizes Newspaper

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Congressional candidate Jack G. Coleman of McGehee criticized the Palmer Media Group Wednesday for what he said was "very unfair" treatment of candidates in the campaign.

Coleman charged that one of the candidates, Richard Arnold of Texarkana, had received four times more publicity from the Palmer newspapers than the other three candidates combined. He pointed out that Arnold is the son-in-law of Walter Hussman, editor and publisher of the Palmer Media Group.

The Palmer Media Group owns four newspapers in the 4th District — at El Dorado, Camden, Magnolia and Texarkana.

Coleman repeated the charges at El Dorado late Wednesday afternoon.

He also said the Palmer news media were misleading the voters in South Arkansas by "telling the story of their own man — Richard Arnold."

Coleman charged that the Palmer news media had "deliberately hidden articles of the other candidates in hopes of assuring that the voters will read only one story — the story about Richard Arnold."

"Prejudice such as exhibited by the Palmer news media is what is causing members of congress to pass legislation to establish federal guidelines regarding news stories of candidates in federal elections, such as the FCC does for radio and TV," Coleman said.

Gazette Endorses Boswell

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Gazette today endorsed Ted Boswell of Bryant and Congressman David Pryor in their race for the U.S. Senate. Both are seeking the seat of Sen. John L. McClellan.

"It is our own considered judgment that the time has come for Arkansas voters to replace McClellan, to bring him home into honorable retirement," the Gazette said in an editorial.

The newspaper said McClellan has become increasingly unresponsive to new ideas and increasingly unable to adapt his own thinking to the needs of changing times. The Gazette also said the people of Arkansas can never have a better choice of quality successors to replace McClellan than they have now.

"We are completely convinced that if either David Pryor or Ted Boswell wins in the Democratic primaries he will go on to become, God willing, a great senator," the Gazette said. "Certainly the state of Arkansas will never have a better opportunity to send a fresh new talent to the United States Senate and so launch a bright new star upon the congressional horizon."

AIRMAN DANNY P. SIMMONS

Airman Danny P. Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otha P. Simmons of Rt. 1, Hope, has completed his U.S. Air Force basic training at the Air Training Command's Lackland AFB, Tex. He has been assigned to Shepard AFB, Tex., for training in the civil engineering structural pavements field. Airman Simmons attended Spring Hill High School, Spring Hill, Ark. His wife, Glenda, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Thopskin of 201 S. Main, Hope.

Summer Weather Returns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Summer-like weather returned to Arkansas today as showers and thundershowers moved out of the area Wednesday.

The National Weather Service said rainfall amounts were generally light and there was little relief from the dry conditions in the state. Little Rock's rainfall amount is 13.1 inches below normal and all sections of the state are suffering from similar deficiencies.

A flat high pressure system over the nation's midsection is controlling Arkansas weather and the Weather Service said summertime conditions would prevail through Friday with a slight possibility of showers developing over the weekend.

Highs Wednesday ranged from 84 at Fayetteville to 65 at Little Rock.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—Who gave California its name?
A—The state was named by Spanish explorers who first sailed along the coast in the 1500s. They called the land California, probably after the name of a treasure island in a popular Spanish tale.

Q—Which planet of the solar system was discovered by an American astronomer?
A—Pluto, discovered by Clyde William Tombaugh in 1930.

Pollution Waits on a Judge

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge has come within a hair's breadth of halting the nation's main attack on air pollution, but postponed his decision for at least a week.

Four environmental groups filed suit Wednesday morning against the Environmental Protection Agency, seeking a court order to block federal approval of state plans for combating air pollution.

The environmentalists said EPA Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus was about to approve state plans which would allow the soiling of air that is now clean.

Within hours after the suit was filed, U.S. District Court Judge John H. Pratt held a hearing to decide whether he should immediately block action by Ruckelshaus pending a broader review of the legal issues.

Pratt at first scheduled a hearing on the legal issued for June 2, and repeatedly asked government attorneys if they could promise that Ruckelshaus would withhold action that long.

At one point, Pratt said, "If you give me assurance that no action will be taken before a week from Friday, I will not issue the temporary restraining order." But the government lawyers said Ruckelshaus was required by law to act before then.

Pratt rescheduled the further hearing for next Tuesday morning, one day before Ruckelshaus's own decision deadline, and denied a temporary restraining order "for the time being."

The environmentalists said approval of any state plans permitting degradation of clean air would violate national air-quality laws.

Under such a decision, Ruckelshaus might be able to approve some state plans or even parts of all the plans. The law requires him to approve or disapprove them by next Wednesday.

The suit was argued by attorney Bruce J. Terris representing the Sierra Club, the Metropolitan Washington Coalition for Clean Air, the New Mexico Citizens for Clean Air and Water, Inc., and the Clean Air Council of San Diego County.

Methodist Pastoral Changes

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Fifty-one pastoral changes in the Little Rock Conference of the United Methodist Church were read by Bishop Paul V. Galloway at the close of the annual session here Wednesday night.

Included are new district superintendents for the Little Rock and Pine Bluff districts.

Appointed to head the Little Rock District is Dr. J. Edward Hunlap, who has been pastor of Winfield United Methodist Church of Little Rock. He will be succeeded at Winfield by Dr. C. Ray Hozendorf, who has been the Little Rock District superintendent.

Dr. Virgil D. Keeley, who has been pastor of the First United Methodist Church at Blytheville, was named the new superintendent in the Pine Bluff District. Dr. Arthur Terry, who has been superintendent of the Pine Bluff District, will become pastor of the Mablevale United Methodist Church.

Space Rescue Set Up by USSR-U.S.

By VERN HAUGLAND
AP Aerospace Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new U.S.-Soviet agreement signed in Moscow Wednesday by Premier Alexei Kosygin and President Nixon will provide mankind with the first capability of rescuing men in distress in space.

The rendezvous and docking in 1975 of a Soviet Soyuz spacecraft carrying two cosmonauts, and an American Apollo spacecraft with two or perhaps three astronauts, will test rescue techniques that would be called upon in any future space emergency, officials told newsmen here Wednesday.

Furthermore, the newly designated "international rendezvous and docking mission" will give the U.S. aerospace industry a $250-million shot in the arm—much of the money going to the major Apollo contractor, North American Rockwell Space Division, Downey, Calif.

Dr. James C. Fletcher, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said contractor employment for the new docking mission should rise from 200 currently, to a peak of about 4,400 by the end of 1974.

Fletcher said it will take two years to build and test the docking module—the separate 10-foot-long, five-foot-diameter compartment that will link the Soviet Soyuz to the Apollo command-and-service module.

The astronauts and cosmonauts will spend two-hour periods in the docking module to make the adjustment between the low-pressure, 5 pounds per square inch, pure oxygen of the Apollo craft and the almost natural mixed atmosphere of Soyuz at 15 pounds per square inch.

She was charged with creating a disturbance on a Calexico-to-Los Angeles bus March 8.

WESTMORELAND, Calif. (AP) — Anna Kashfi, actor Marlon Brando's ex-wife, has pleaded guilty to a charge of disturbing the peace and paid a $125 fine.

The 38-year-old actress was not in the courthouse of this Southern California desert hamlet Tuesday but was represented by an attorney.

She was charged with creating a disturbance on a Calexico-to-Los Angeles bus March 8.

Pratt at first scheduled a hearing on the legal issued for June 2, and repeatedly asked government attorneys if they could promise that Ruckelshaus would withhold action that long.

At one point, Pratt said, "If you give me assurance that no action will be taken before a week from Friday, I will not issue the temporary restraining order." But the government lawyers said Ruckelshaus was required by law to act before then.

Pratt rescheduled the further hearing for next Tuesday morning, one day before Ruckelshaus's own decision deadline, and denied a temporary restraining order "for the time being."

The environmentalists said approval of any state plans permitting degradation of clean air would violate national air-quality laws.

Under such a decision, Ruckelshaus might be able to approve some state plans or even parts of all the plans. The law requires him to approve or disapprove them by next Wednesday.

The suit was argued by attorney Bruce J. Terris representing the Sierra Club, the Metropolitan Washington Coalition for Clean Air, the New Mexico Citizens for Clean Air and Water, Inc., and the Clean Air Council of San Diego County.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new U.S.-Soviet agreement signed in Moscow Wednesday by Premier Alexei Kosygin and President Nixon will provide mankind with the first capability of rescuing men in distress in space.

The rendezvous and docking in 1975 of a Soviet Soyuz spacecraft carrying two cosmonauts, and an American Apollo spacecraft with two or perhaps three astronauts, will test rescue techniques that would be called upon in any future space emergency, officials told newsmen here Wednesday.

Furthermore, the newly designated "international rendezvous and docking mission" will give the U.S. aerospace industry a $250-million shot in the arm—much of the money going to the major Apollo contractor, North American Rockwell Space Division, Downey, Calif.

Catholic Backlash Gathers Momentum

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Bursts of guerrilla gunfire early today in Londonderry punctuated the Roman Catholic campaign to get the Irish Republican Army to suspend its war against the British army.

The shooting injured no one, but it was the first violence in Londonderry in more than 24 hours during which the Catholic backlash against the IRA gunmen had gathered momentum.

Two policemen on patrol were the target for one burst of automatic gunfire. They did not fire back, but a stray bullet smashed through the window of a nearby house, ricocheted off a wall and landed on the bed of an elderly woman.

Other shots were fired at a British army post near the Bogside and Creggan districts, the IRA stronghold known as Free Derry.

In Belfast, two civilians standing at the edge of the Catholic Falls Road area were hit by bullets from a speeding car. One of the casualties was in serious condition. The other was slightly injured.

The Dublin headquarters of the IRA's Provisional wing rejected the calls from other Catholics to lay down its arms, and the priest who proposed a peace motion adopted by 2,000 persons at a Londonderry rally Tuesday charged the IRA is trying to intimidate the protesters.

The Rev. Hugh O'Neill said the 35,000 people in the Creggan and Bogside districts live under the gun law of 250 hard-core IRA men.

"There are men among us in many cases far more alien than the British soldier could ever be," he told newsmen. "I know of a North Korean, a couple of Algerians and two Londoners in the IRA ranks."

"They are interested in neither God nor Ireland. It is the Gospel according to Marx that they are teaching, and patriotism is merely a front."

The Official wing of the IRA is Marxist and is fighting to unite Ireland and make it a socialist state. But the IRA's Provisional wing has been responsible for much of the violence in Northern Ireland, and its men are conservative traditionalists.

Indications Point To Expanding Economy

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's leading economic indicators pointed today toward a sharply expanding economy in the months ahead.

The Commerce Department said its composite index of leading indicators increased 1.4 per cent in April and, on top of that, the March advance was revised upward to 1.9 per cent.

The March revision was the sharpest increase in the indicators in a year and the April gain of 1.4 per cent was also regarded as strong advance.

Although the index of leading indicators is not regarded as a precise measure of the economy, it is supposed to shed light on the general way in which the economy is headed.

Based on the two-month increases, the trend is toward acceleration. The Nixon administration has said it now must watch the economy closely to make sure that it doesn't expand too fast and touch off a new round of inflation.

Of the eight economic indicators available for April, only one showed an adverse situation. The indicator for the ratio of price and labor costs declined slightly.

All the others which make up the index, the average work-week, initial claims for unemployment insurance, new orders for durable goods, contracts and orders for plant and equipment, building permits and industrial materials prices, showed increases.

The index climbed to 140.2 per cent of the 1967 base. It has increased in 17 out of the last 18 months.

Waging Quiet Campaign

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Challenger Benny Roark and incumbent Sam Jones have been waging relatively quiet campaigns for land commissioner, a post that pays $5,000 annually. That alone sets the contest apart from campaigns for other state constitutional positions, where the pay is equally low but the battle for them is waged more heatedly.

Roark, 34, of Fordyce aims to block Jones' bid for Democratic nomination in the May 30 primary for a ninth term.

"Many people don't know how important the office is," said Roark, operator of a hardware and furniture store. "Last year, $10 million to $15 million worth of property was sold for $100,000."

That, he said, was a "land giveaway."

Jones argued against Roark's charge, but the two foes have had little to say about each other since that opening shot.

Roark has pledged that, if elected, he would give 30 days legal notice in newspapers of the pending sale of land on which taxes were delinquent, rather than the 14 days specified by law.

That, he said, would give the landowner a "second chance."

"The people who lose their land are, as always, the people who can least afford to lose it," he said. "They are the poor people who just can't afford to pay their land taxes at that time."

Roark, a former alderman, also has said that he would see that county surveyors get an accurate survey if he is elected.

Jones has showed up at some political functions, has talked to some of the political acquaintances he has made over the years, has mailed some letters soliciting support, and has made a speech or two.

"I haven't made many speeches this year, because I haven't found it necessary this time," Jones said.

Roark, a native of Camden, is the son of I. W. "Pete" Roark, chairman of the Dallas County Democratic Committee.

HIGH IN THE SADDLE is the way to ride out Cheyenne, Wyo., way, even if it's a bicycle and not a horse. A fellow is riding. And particularly, it appears, if the pedals are where the saddle should be. What will they think of next?

Unlined Coats Winners In New Fall Collection

By ANN HENCKEN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Warm, "cuddly" unlined coats were the winners at the Pauline Trigere fall collection showing.
Some were double-faced and reversible—plaids and solids combined. A black and silver coat with large collar topped a print dress.
"It's going to be mine, if anybody's interested," said Miss Trigere, standing near a large vase of dogwood and roses, as the models came out Tuesday.
Her three-cornered cape in yellow and brown plaid was a new shape. But capes have long been a Trigere favorite. She showed several with slightly gathered backs, in keeping with the smock look for fall.

She also liked capes short and wrappy, trimmed in black fox for late-day dresses.
"Perfect for afternoon going into evening," said Trigere, who believes in black all the way for evening dress.
Black turned up again and again, including a full-length black suit with short jacket and tucked sleeves.
When Trigere does break away from black, there are sumptuous prints on chiffons, like her "enchanted forest" print in smoky purple, yellow and green.
Or she showed strapless dresses in peau de sole, wrapped with bright capes, for evening.
Her version of the long

Thursday, May 25, 1972
sweater dress is not the casual style which some designers like. She shows it in a straight silver and black tube, broken at the hip with a sprinkle of rhinestones.
Her dresses range from that simple A-line style of hers to dolman sleeved versions.

Ross Hunter Thrilled Making 'Lost Horizon' Musical Version

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Talking to Ross Hunter about his picture, "Lost Horizon," is something like talking to a teen-ager about his new car. He's so excited about it the words come tumbling out in a delightful spurt of enthusiasm.

Of course, there's a little difference in the overall cost of the project. "Lost Horizon" will come in at somewhere between six and seven million dollars. It will probably be the biggest film shot in Hollywood this year. But Hunter talks about it as though it was his new toy.

But he's always been somewhat different from the average producer. Ross is the kind of man who takes his date Nancy Sinatra Sr. out to the movies and stands in line with everybody else. He isn't one to throw his weight around.

So his excitement about his baby, "Lost Horizon," is predictable. To make a musical version of the James Hilton novel has been his long-time dream.

He's always loved the book and has turned to it for help in times of trouble. One such time came nine years ago when he says he was going through a bad time. He found solace in "Lost Horizon" and decided then that he wanted to make the movie.

He was at Universal at the time. He knew Columbia owned the rights to the property. He called them and they said, sure, he could do it — provided he switched to Columbia. He couldn't do that, so, as he says, "the dream exploded."

A couple of years ago he had another seige of problems and again turned to his dog-eared, underlined copy of the book. He says he decided then that he had to get away from Universal "if I wanted to preserve my sanity." He had many offers, including one from Columbia, and took that one because it included doing "Lost Horizon."

The first decision he made was to get Burt Bacharach to write the music, with his lyricist, Hal David. Burt Bacharach Sr., the columnist, and his wife, Irma, had always had Ross over for dinner whenever the producer went to New York so he's known the young composer for years.

But Burt and Hal did not know the property. Ross had them over and screened the original movie starring the late Ronald Colman. They made the deal 24 hours later.

Casting was a problem. Everyone wanted to be in it. It was like a jig-saw puzzle made out of gold. Ross has done a great job—he has a cast including Peter Finch, Liv Ullmann, Sally Kellerman, George Kennedy, Michael York, Olivia Hussey, Sir John Gielgud, Bobby Van, Charles Boyer portrays the high lama.

He had some static from Oriental groups when he cast Gielgud as Chang. They wanted an Oriental actor. But Hunter says they had obviously not read the book—Chang is half-English and Oxford-educated.

GETTING IN TUNE for the musical version of "Lost Horizon" are (left to right) Angie Dickinson, Diana Ross, Burt Bacharach and producer Ross Hunter at a pre-filming party in Hollywood. Hunter wanted to do the modern treatment of the James Hilton novel for years. Columbia Pictures finally made it possible with Bacharach and Hal David doing the music.

At first there was a part written in for Helen Hayes. When she couldn't do it the part was taken out. That didn't stop a lot of actresses—including Ruth Gordon—from clamoring to get the part.

The script, taken from the original book, has been updated to the '70s. Hunter believes Hilton must have had some form of ESP because he says it is even timelier now than when it was written in the early '30s.

You'll be hearing the lovely Bacharach-David songs a lot now, long before the film is released for Easter '73.

Hunter feels that a movie musical's songs must receive a lot of air play early so the songs are familiar by the time the film comes out. There will be many records.

They're building a 3½-acre Shangri-La at Columbia.

Minister From Outside Seeks to Reach Prisoners

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Ninety per cent of the nation's 400,000 prisoners never go to the prison chapel—many because they identify the chaplain with the establishment and regard him as a part of the punishment process.

"But they'll listen to someone from outside," says a Dallas minister who seeks to reach them daily over a radio network of more than 60 stations.

A prisoner's day dawns with little chance of change. It tends to be a carbon copy of yesterday; a blueprint for tomorrow. Cut off by the walls from whatever he holds dear, the prisoner needs to be told he isn't friendless, that there's something still to hope for.

Dr. Raymond Hoekstra—the man they call simply Chaplain Ray—reckons he reaches around two-thirds of the penitentiaries and prisons, plus "countless" city and county jails and prison farms.

His broadcasts, 14-minutes spots bought from commercial stations, reach as far as Canada and Mexico. Cassette tapes of his broadcasts go even farther afield—to Haiti and Jamaica, and the big Bilibid Prison in Manila.

Hoekstra employs a fulltime staff of eight plus some volunteers who operate from busy offices at the Forest Hills Community Baptist Church near White Rock Lake in East Dallas.

A highspeed duplicator tapes five and a half hours of programs in just two minutes, prison fan mail averaging 150 letters a day is opened and answered, cassettes are dispatched to radio stations all over the nation.

Each prisoner who asks for it gets a free Bible—a white one for the women and girls, a black one for the men. With each Bible go four inspirational leaflets, usually some prisoner's tale of his conversion or the poems he wrote within his cell.

The big mailing response has made Chaplain Ray a kind of counselor for many of the prison population. He helps where he can to answer problems.

"But the real answer to a prisoner's problems is Christ," says Hoekstra. "Some of the most radiant Christians I have ever met have been prisoners behind bars—even lifers in for murder."

What worries them most? Hoekstra says one of the main things they talk about in their letters is the danger they face from other prisoners.

"The number killed or injured by guards is small indeed when compared with those killed and hurt by other prisoners," says the radio chaplain. "They fear their fellow prisoners more than they fear the system."

Hoekstra would like to see prison inmates separated into what he calls "logical categories" and assigned to the institutions best suited to hold them.

Youthful first offenders, inmates convicted of non-violent crimes, political revolutionaries, homosexuals and prisoners with perverted sex habits, and the incorrigibles should be kept apart, he thinks.

Another problem is that of contact with families.

Citing as an example that less than 20 per cent of the men in San Quentin ever get visitors at all, Hoekstra says: "Married prisoners should be permitted conjugal visits with their mates in homelike facilities provided within the prison or by weekend passes outside. Wherever feasible, inmates should be incarcerated near their homes to maintain family contacts and facilitate an effective pre-release program and re-employment."

His prison ministry provides thousands of free cards for the men to send home at Christmas. Between 20 and 30 thousand Mother's Day cards are distributed in May.

Another thing Hoekstra feels strong about is what he calls the "dehumanizing" custom of calling men only by number. "Their full names should be used," he says.

The prison ministry's objectives are: first the Christianization of the prisoners, and secondly prison reform.

Hoekstra, now 58, is a native of Chicago's South Side. He comes of a family of Dutch farmers who came here from Holland in 1829.

Hoekstra says he first got interested in prisoners when he was taken on a tour of Sing Sing in the '30s. He was later a pastor in Indianapolis and served on the governor's clemency commission.

In the 1960s, Hoekstra got involved with broadcasting in religious programs over the ABC and Mutual radio networks. He has lived in Dallas since 1969 and is president of the Southwest chapter of National Religious Broadcasters.

Hoekstra says he tries to establish contact with his listeners by telling them that Jesus himself was a prisoner—that He died on death row, convicted by false accusers for political reasons. "I explain how close He was to the world that they know—the world of criminals, and guards, and judges. It makes them feel: Well, He was one of us."

Hoekstra's prison ministry is financed by freewill contributions from churches, Sunday schools, prayer circles and individuals.

It costs $100 to sponsor a cassette Bible class on Death Row or in a cell block. Twenty dollars will provide a 19-foot full-color Easter mural for a chapel or prison dining room. Ten dollars will equip five prisoners with Bibles.

Highway Death

SPRINGDALE, Ark. (AP) — State Police said that Glenn Statun, 1, of Springdale died here Tuesday after being injured in a car-truck collision on U. S. 68 about two miles west of here.

Police said the child and his mother, Mrs. Sandy Statun, 21, were in a car driven by her brother, Edward Kinion, 17, of Lowell when it collided with a truck driven by Don Stamps, 36, of Springdale.

Blames Publicity

NEW YORK (AP) — Singing star Tiny Tim's wife Miss Vicki blames what she calls his love of publicity for the breakup of their marriage.

In an article in the June issue of Ladies Home Journal, she said her love for the singer, whose real name is Herbert B. Khaury, began to wilt when he insisted that they be married on Johnny Carson's television show Dec. 17, 1969, over her objections.

She said she also opposed naming their daughter Tulip, after Khaury's theme song, because "I resented using our baby as a form of promoting his career."

"He was more excited by the publicity than by the fact that we had a daughter, she said."

Mrs. Khaury filed for divorce March 3.

Baked Beans Light Up The Meal

Add a flaming sauce to a common pot of beans and presto — you have an uncommon dish to delight everyone.

Baked Beans Flambe is a new version of an old favorite. The secret ingredient in this recipe which makes the difference is Barton's QT. The new premium light whiskey adds an unusual delicate flavor to the beans.

When you prepare this recipe be sure to make enough to serve seconds.

Baked Beans Flambe

2 lg. (16-oz.) cans baked beans in molasses
6 strips bacon, fried crisp and crumbled
1 medium onion, chopped fine

1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup premium American light whiskey

Save the bacon grease and add the chopped onion. Simmer until onion is transparent. Add brown sugar and Worcestershire, stirring until the sugar melts. Add bacon bits. Mix half the brown sugar mixture with the baked beans in a 1 1/2 qt. casserole and heat in 350° F. oven 20 minutes.

Remove from oven and top with remaining mixture. Return to oven, placing under broiler, until the topping bubbles. Remove from oven, pour premium American light whiskey over topping, ignite and serve immediately. Since Baked Beans Flambe glows with a soft blue flame, the dish is ideal for serving by candlelight. Serves four to six.
